

Mission Statement
Applied Technology Division

The West Virginia Northern Community College division of Applied Technology strives to provide students with a quality Applied Technology Education to meet the highly specialized skills needed for employment in the 21st century's competitive job market. Students participating in Applied Technology Education programs of study master rigorous academic and relevant technical concepts that encourage students to make the effort to succeed.